Douglas Hayes Menez (b. 1957) is an American photographer, director, and artist whose varied career over 40 years has ranged from photojournalism to commissioned work, documentary, and fine art projects. After studying at the San Francisco Art Institute, Menez combined Journalism with Fine Art and Visual Anthropology to create his own interdisciplinary major at San Francisco State University and graduated with a BA in Photojournalism in 1981. His methodology has since evolved to employ a traditional documentary approach that allows for an intuitive investigation of the subject. The driving concern behind all his work is to explore and reflect the realities of the human condition.

Menez began his career at The Washington Post and worked as a freelance photojournalist covering a wide range of stories for Time, Newsweek, LIFE, USA Today, Fortune and many other publications worldwide. He has explored such subjects as the homeless crisis, the Ethiopian famine, the Oakland drug wars, the Olympics, and the AIDS crisis. He gained exclusive access to document Steve Jobs and his team for three years for LIFE Magazine to understand his process of innovation and went on to record the rise of Silicon Valley from 1985-2000, during which he documented the private daily lives of the tech industry's most brilliant innovators and their bid to change the world. Menez's many portrait assignments range from cultural notables Charlize Theron, Cate Blanchett, and Robert Redford to Mother Teresa and Presidents Clinton and George H.W. Bush.

Menez's work has won numerous awards and has been honored by many organizations including The Kelly Awards, The AOP London, the Cannes Festival, The One Show, the Art Directors Club of New York, Photo District News, The Epson Creativity Award, American Photography, the International Photography Awards, NY Photo Festival, Graphis, and Communication Arts. His work has been exhibited in solo and group shows in Asia, Europe and the US, and is held in many private collections. His commissioned campaigns for global brands include FedEx, Apple, Chevrolet, Emirates Airlines, GE, Siemens, GE Hewlett Packard, Coca Cola, Charles Schwab, Nikon, Leica, Chevron, Nokia, Samsung and Microsoft.

Menez's books include the bestseller, 15 Seconds: The Great San Francisco Earthquake of 1989, co-produced with David Elliott Cohen, which generated more than five hundred thousand dollars in relief money for earthquake victims, Defying Gravity: The Making of Newton (Beyond Words Publishing, 1993), Heaven, Earth, Heaven, Earth, Tequila: Un Viaje al Corazón de México (Waterside Press, 2005), Transcendent Spirit: The Orphans of Uganda (Beaufort Books, NY, 2008), with an introduction by Dame Elizabeth Taylor, which has raised over one hundred thousand dollars to date for Ugandan AIDS orphans.

Over 100 million have now seen his project and book, Fearless Genius: The Digital Revolution in Silicon Valley 1985-2000 (Simon & Schuster's Atria Books, 2014), an Amazon Photo Book #1 Bestseller, published in 6 countries and 17 languages. The project has received viral press coverage and has been exhibited extensively around the world.

In 2004, Stanford University Library acquired Menez's extensive archive of over 1 million photographs and created the Douglas Menez Photography Collection at Stanford University Libraries. Menez is a sought-after keynote speaker and has delivered his Fearless Genius presentation to the Harvard Business School, Stanford d. school and the University of Konstanz MBA program as well as conferences such as TEDx, EG and Dent The Future, and for corporations such as Apple, Google, MetLife, Hexagon, Franklin Templeton and Thomson Reuters.

Menez has taught photography workshops for over 20 years and serves on the Advisory Board of the Center for Photography at Woodstock. He currently divides his time between upstate New York and Manhattan.
